Every year EFI holds a week long celebration that has come to be known as Israel Week, during which there are several events meant provide a glimpse of Israeli culture. This a non-political event, and EFI intentionally reaches out to people from other cultural groups.

During the same time that EFI puts on Israeli Week, the group STUDENTS FOR JUSTICE IN PALESTINE (SJP) hold events to highlight what they refer to as Israeli Apartheid Week. [redacted] feels that SJP's goal is to "raise awareness of the conditions in Palestinian territory, and to delegitimize Israeli Week, and Israel as a whole."

This years Israel Week events began Monday, April 1st, with a t-shirt painting activity and the SJP conducted a silent sit-in protest in the area near the t-shirt painting. [redacted] attempted to peacefully engage members of SJP, but they remained silent.

On Wednesday, EFI set up tables and invited people to come and speak with members of EFI if they wanted to. Members of SJP approached the tables, dressed in all black, sat down and repeatedly stated "free Palestine." The SJP members then laid down on the ground, conducting a die-in protest. Most of the die-in participants held signs bearing the name of a Palestinian resident of Israel who allegedly died as a result of the Israeli/Palestinian conflict in Israel.

Thursday through Saturday of Israel Week passed without incident because the Emory chapter of SJP was at the campus of Georgia Tech where there was another Israel Week celebration taking place.

Following the events of that week, specifically the incident with the eviction notices, Emory Bridge was formed to foster communication between different student groups. Emory Bridge held an event on 4/22/2019, and [REDACTED] was part of a large crowd in attendance. The Israeli/Palestinian conflict was discussed in "very general terms" and nothing was mentioned of the events that occurred during Israel Week. The Emory Bridge consists of a panel of Emory students, but no members of either EFI or SJP were
